Pandemic Flu

The pandemic flu is the worst flu ever because it could be passed very easy. That's why if you have a flu you should stay home in bed. If you go to school it will be passed very easy because at school you shared things and if you touched things and other people touch them they will have the flu and you will cause the class to stay home - the teachers and if it gets real worst the whole school need to go home. And I know that will be a very bad thing. I know the flu could be passed when you do anything for an example if you go to class you touch a door knob to open the door and go to class and another person touch it they have the flu. So if you have a very very very bad flu you should stay home but don't pass the flu to the people at home. But if you have a not very bad flu and you go to school you should when you cough you should cover it with your arm wash your hands and sneeze or anything else cover it with your arm. Don't cover it with your your hand because if you touch something with your hands it will be passed fast but if you cover it with your it still going to be pass but what I see fast so for good you could just stay home for good. I know don't think anybody want a flu.
